

Through-traffic lost

Lodgepole business hurt by new road, residents claim

Lodgepole residents are upset over the new Brazeau road development, claiming it has reduced traffic into the hamlet and injured business. The new road has cut-off what was formerly the main entrance to the community of 150.

Hazel Bolanatz, owner of Duane's Auto Service along with her husband and son, says the detour was illogical and unnecessary.

"There were other ways they could have done it," she said, adding that different routes were suggested which would have maintained traffic through town.

Business has been reduced substantially since the new road was constructed, Bolanatz said.

The development is an "added insult" to business which is already suffering from the oil downturn, she noted.

Fay Whatley, owner of the Lodgepole General Store, said she has also seen a decline in customers over the last few months and attributes it to the detour.

County of Parkland engineer John Twach said the decision to build the new road (known as Secondary Road 628) was based on factors of safety and efficiency.

It was difficult for logging trucks to turn at the existing intersection, adding that the road through Lodgepole was becoming unsafe with the increase in silt and timber hauls.

Twach said residents in the hamlet were consulted before the county board voted to go ahead with the construction — performed by Alberta Transportation.

Although not denying there is "some controversy over the bypass, Twach believes business in Lodgepole isn't being harmed.

"If I am going from Drayton Valley to the Brazeau with no intention of stopping in Lodgepole, the intersection is not going to matter to me."

"The way it was before it was extremely dangerous," said deputy reeve Henry Rondeau.

He added that the issue was raised with local residents before any decision was made by the county.

Rondeau also said that during that time concerns were voiced about the noise from the large trucks.

Nevertheless, Olga Baker, a working partner at Tall Pine Timber Company in Lodgepole, maintains the new road is in such bad condition that safety is still a prime concern.

There's so much truck traffic on the road that there's bound to be an accident one day, Baker warned.

Nurse Pamela Warden pins a graduating Registered Nursing Assistant at ceremonies last week. The graduation marks what could be the last for sometime, as the program is being discontinued until economic conditions improve.

Residents graduate from last RNA program

By Steve Fletcher

Nine local residents graduated as Registered Nursing Assistants (RNA) Friday, a culmination of months of patience and hard work.

At a ceremony on the lawn of the Drayton Valley hospital, Pembina Consortium executive director Joe MacLellan told those in attendance that many of the students had to wait for over a year to gain entry into a program with 160 names on its waiting list.

The ceremony was also special as it marked the last such graduation of RNAs in Drayton Valley until healthier economic conditions arise.

MacLellan said he is "optimistic that the program will return" in the near future.

The hospital's executive director, Jim Jansen, included in his words of encouragement to the graduates a desire to see the training program re-instated.

Meanwhile, guest speaker Dr. Michael Andrews, president of the Alberta Vocational Centre and chairman of Pembina's board, described the graduation as a "rites of passage."

He stressed that the new RNAs were "assuming a professional responsibility" and underscored the importance of patient care.

"Treat every patient as an individual — not just today, but five years from now," said Andrews. "Caring is what it's all about...do it and do it well."

After the ceremony, Andrews told The Western Review that the program was being discontinued for two reasons: government cutbacks and the fact that jobs are no longer readily available.

"One of the major objectives (of the Pembina Consortium) is to re-instate the program, hopefully as soon as a year away."

Also on hand to congratulate the new RNAs were Dr. Brian Loosmore (the hospital's chief of staff), and Pat Frederickson, representing the Professional Council of Registered Nursing Assistants.

Instructors Paula Warden and Pamela Wells presented pins and certificates to the graduating class: Laurie Bennefield, Linda Blanner, Carol Clemmer, Darthy Engelman, Sharon Hoffman, Kathy Stewart, Rose Tuttle, Jean Woloszyn, and Dolores Powell (valedictorian).

Local News Briefs

The vacant mental health position in Drayton Valley will be filled by Aug. 10th.

Kelly Fredrickson, who has worked in similar rural setting in Saskatchewan has been hired. The position has been vacant since September.

MLA Shirley Cripps was instrumental in getting a replacement, due to pressure applied by school principals and church ministers, who have been doing most of the counselling.

Town council are expected to make a decision at their Aug. 8th meeting on their tourist membership.

Mayor Bob Mayhew attended a recent Evergreen tourist meeting in Stony Plain and will make his remarks to council next month.

The mayor says if the province won't let Drayton Valley move from Evergreen to Battle River, the town may opt to go it alone.

Talks between the town and the Community Centre Society are at a stand still according to Mayor Bob Mayhew.

The mayor says the province's decision to delay any further announcement on a new municipal district, has put the arena and multi purpose administration complex on hold.

Noiz, the four piece Drayton Valley rock band performed at the CFRN Klondike Stage last Thursday night.

Brad Hammond, Randy Diachuk, Aaron Fiveland and Gerald MacLellan were one of 12 groups to perform. Earlier this year, Noiz placed second in the CFRN Search For Talent, finals after placing first in showmanship at the local competition.

Chad Anker of Drayton Valley has earned a place on the University of Alberta, Faculty of Science Dean's honor roll for the 1986-87 academic year.

Inclusion on the honor roll requires that a student registered in the Faculty of Science achieve first class standing (in 7.5 out of 9.0) or higher grade point average, while carrying a full academic course load.

Tour medical facilities

China visit a real eye opener — local couple

Mary de Jong stands atop the Marco Polo Bridge.

By Steve Fletcher
A stroke victim unable to speak and suffering from paralysis on his right side was brought into a dark and antiquated hospital in the interior of China.

After 10 days of acupuncture "he was waving his arms and saying 'Hello, Canadians!'" It was the first sign he had spoken in seven months, recalls Mary deJong, extended care coordinator at Drayton Valley Hospital.

Mary and husband Dick, operator of DV Ambulance, recently returned from a 16-day tour of medical facilities in the world's most populous nation.

Both claim the visit was a real eye-opener. Chinese medicine, says Mary, is in every way equal to its counterpart in the west. Moreover, in terms of innovative practices, China is well-ahead in putting the healing applications of acupuncture and herbal medicine to use.

"I'd like to see more of it done here...it's so much less expensive," said Mary, who has in her possession an application form for a three-month course in acupuncture at a Chinese hospital.

Mary was part of a 44-nurse Canadian delegation to China, sponsored by the Citizen Ambassador Program founded in New York by then U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Mary's name was one of the very few picked by the Canadian government. Dick went along as a guest of Mary's (each nurse was allowed one guest).

Paying their own expenses, the delegation toured Hong Kong and the interior of China exchanging knowledge and views on medicine.

The deJongs were highly-impressed with the skills manifested by both doctors and nurses, despite the sometimes archaic working conditions.

"A lot of surgery in the interior of China is done using light coming in from the windows...electricity is rationed," Mary said. And although a lot of the facilities are dilapidated and ugly on the surface, hygienic conditions are strictly maintained.

"The hospitals look so seamed, but they are very clean. There's low infection rates, good results, everything is done well."

Ironically, Dick had a first-hand experience with Chinese health professionals when he cracked his lower plate of teeth at the Beijing (formerly Peking) airport.

Extremely apprehensive by a visit to the dentist in a foreign country, this fear was heightened by the chisel-like instruments on the dentist's chair-side table.

Any fear turned out to be uncalled for as the dentist performed a quick, painless, and ultimately successful operation. Dick says he hasn't had any problem with his bottom teeth since.

Unfortunately, China's medical system, no matter how skillful its doctors and nurses may be, is weighed down by the sheer number of people it must accommodate.

With only 500,000 amongst a population of more than a billion people, the nation is facing a widespread shortage of nurses.

Mary said a common question posed to the delegation of nurses at each hospital visited was exactly how many of the Canadians were staying.

With no doctors' clinics and with hospital beds a scarcity, people with ailments would often patiently wait all day in the hospital ward to see a physician, noted Dick. Each hospital had to deal with an onslaught of 3,000-5,000 outpatients.

Mary also pointed out that the hazards of Chinese transportation could easily fill the hospitals.

In the major cities, where motor vehicles have the right-of-way, the "hundreds of thousands of bicyclists" competing for roadway meant an inordinate amount of accidents.

"A lot of times a bus would hit a bike and then keep on going," she said.

Returning home on July 7, the deJongs describe the tour as an unforgettable opportunity of a lifetime.

"To tell you the truth, I didn't think I could do it. I really didn't believe I had the qualifications (and almost cancelled out)," Mary said.

"But I'm glad I went; I received a very good response (from the Chinese) and a lot of support from my colleagues."

Buck Lake tragedy

Father says death part of rodeo

The father of the bull rider killed at the Buck Lake Stampede says what happened was part of rodeo, and places no blame on anyone.

Three-time Canadian rodeo champion George Myren was in Drayton Valley last week and told the Western Review his son Chad died doing what he loved most, adding, he understands the danger in the arena.

In fact the Myren family have sent a letter to the Buck Lake Stampede Association expressing just this, and thanking the association for their support and presence at their son's memorial service.

Myren doesn't hold Skywalker (the bull) responsible and said, "If they did away with every animal that hurt somebody there wouldn't be any rodeo."

"He (Skywalker) likes to hook — it's part of the game," he said.

Following the death of his son the elder Myren said it's important for the rest of the family to keep busy.

"I'd rather be busy after this than stay home brooding," he said adding, "You learn that life has to go on, and learn to accept it."

"I have to be a solid post for the rest of the family," he said.

Myren, his wife Joyce Smith, and their band 'Rodeo Wind' were in town playing at a local bar, while younger son Shawn is continuing on the rodeo circuit.

"You just can't change your lifestyle over something like that," said Myren.

Bylaw review

Council's revamping of business license delicate issue

The Town of Drayton Valley are asking for public assistance in deciding the fate of a delicate problem.

Council are looking to revamp their business licence bylaw. And, some important questions must be addressed before this is done.

The biggest issue, could be home occupation licences. These are the people who operate a business out of their home or garage.

Should they pay the same business licence fee as a similar business in town that has more expenses, such as a large building, higher taxes, utilities and maintenance? Or, should they pay more?

Instead of taking a stand against home occupations that appear to be on the rise, a recent document presented to council suggested that all business licences to be dropped and a new $10 charge be levied for everybody.

If council decide to go with the $10 fee, it will likely encourage more people to operate a business out of their home, and more importantly, it would mean a loss of revenue to the town of about $28,000.

If you are concerned about people operating a similar business as yours out of their homes, at considerable less overhead...let the town know before the end of July.

The town, who have also asked the chamber for their input, are to be commended, for asking for public opinion on such a delicate topic.

Chamber/town project

Hoping people will respond to town retail survey

A recent editorial and a comment in this space about shopping drew a lot of response.

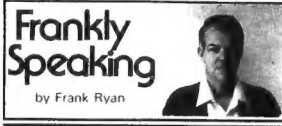

Starting on Aug. 1st the chamber's economic development committee will start their retail survey. The survey will visit 1,000 households and 250 small business.

Were hoping, just like the chamber, that people will respond to this survey, in the same manner they replied to the comment in this paper. There's no questioning people's concern when it comes to shopping.

To make the survey easier, the person who calls at your home or business, will stay and help fill out the questions. It will take about 15 minutes. Or, they will leave the survey and call back for it in 24 hours.

Tell the survey team exactly how you feel, beefs or bouquets.

The results of the survey we hope, will lead the chamber to tackle some of the problems that shoppers have.

Les Bannerman, Staff Sgt. with the Drayton Valley RCMP detachment will be leaving our community next month for a new job in Morinville.

I haven't known Les all that long, but I know that he has given a lot of his private life in making Drayton Valley a better place to live. And, with his many friends and people he worked with and for, we thank him for that.

Besides the work he did behind the scenes, Les was instrumental in getting the members of his detachment involved in the community. And, that's a bonus for any community.

Evidence of the provincial government budget cuts hit close to home recently when the Pembina Educational Consortium saw $40,000 cut from their operating money. More importantly, it will mean the loss of the Registered Nursing Assistants (RNA) program that currently has a waiting list numbering 160.

This is definitely a good case for our MLA to tackle. When our education system starts getting hit...it's time to start fighting back.

Community Involvement

New member appointed to the recreation board

Christine Cripps says "Every community I'm in I try to get involved in something," and now with her recent appointment to the Drayton Valley recreation board she's looking forward to getting started.

Although not too familiar with what the new position entails, Cripps feels her previous experience will be an asset in the job.

Cripps, the daughter of MLA Shirley Cripps, graduated with a diploma in forestry technology from NAIT and plans to work towards becoming a wilderness medical attendant over the winter months.

Currently she acts as a program coordinator and out-tripper at YoWoChas Camp at Lake Wabamun.

The summer has also been busy for her making plans for an August wedding.

A Drayton Valley resident for just over one year, she hails from nearby Winfield where during high school was student union president, belonged to the town curling club and was heavily involved with 4-H clubs.

Other related experience includes her position as teen leadership coordinator for County of Parkland Parks and Recreation from January through to April of this year.

Cripps also worked as a seasonal ranger or forest guardian in recreation for the Alberta Forest Service for three years.

Another position she held through Alberta Forest Service was that of regional program assistant working with junior forest wardens and ranger crews doing program planning and implementation.

Christine Cripps

Cripps says she enjoys working with children and getting involved in the community.

Calgary man fined

A Calgary man was fined $1,000 (or 90 days) after he pleaded guilty to driving over the .08 mg blood alcohol limit.

His driver's license was also suspended for one year. Stanley Edward Parsons pleaded guilty to the charge last week in Drayton Valley Provincial Court.

Court heard that on June 13, 1987, Parsons was observed to almost enter a ditch while driving in town.

He has a previous conviction (1984) for the same offence.

Spillway expanded

In anticipation of increased truck traffic this winter, the spillway at the Brassau has been expanded to two lanes. Beyond the spillway, work is underway on a new bridge across the TransAlta canal. The work is being done, as the area beyond the dam, is where logs for the Pelican Spruce Mills plant in Drayton Valley will originate from.

Man killed in truck collision on Hwy 22

A man was killed Saturday afternoon in a two-vehicle accident near Alder Flats.

RCMP report the the name of the deceased has not been released because the victim has not yet been positively identified.

The victim was driving a one-ton truck on a gravel county road and was west-bound.

He was struck by a south-bound half-ton truck when he attempted to cross

Highway 22.

Three occupants in the half-ton "appeared to escape serious injuries," said an RCMP spokesman.

He added that a coroner's examination of the victim's body will be completed in an attempt at identification.

The spokesman said the victim was "badly burned beyond recognition" in the accident.

'Appropriate changes'

New traffic bylaw brings many additions

By Megan Parker.
A new traffic bylaw has been passed by the Town of Drayton Valley.

Many additions were made to the old bylaw with other sections receiving appropriate changes says bylaw enforcement officer Dave Turner.

The changes will supply the town with better bylaw enforcement ability he said.

Under the bylaw both the bylaw enforcement officer and the RCMP are authorized to enforce the provisions of the bylaw.

According to the bylaw the above named person shall be empowered to remove or cause to be removed, any vehicle or trailer that is operated or parked in contravention of any provision of this bylaw, or where emergency conditions may require such vehicle to be removed from a highway, or where road maintenance may require that a vehicle be removed from a highway.

The bylaw states such a vehicle may be removed and parked on an adjacent street without incurring the vehicle and the expense of the towing will be charged to the registered owner of the vehicle, or to a place designated by the Town Manager, where it will remain until claimed by the owner.

No impounded vehicle shall be released to its owner or his agent until the impoundment charge and removal charge on the vehicle have been paid.

The new provisions and fines ranging from $15 to $70 are as follows:

parking in front of a fire exit; depositing mud, grease, or oil on highway, boulevard or sidewalk; unlawfully parking in a loading zone; parking on a sidewalk or boulevard; parking on a crosswalk; tearing down, removing or interfering with sign, barricades or flares; parking vehicle in taxi cab stand.

Section 10 includes six new provisions, the first being loading or unloading merchandise across a sidewalk or boulevard where loading and unloading facilities have been provided on the premises.

Secondly, a fine will go to anyone depositing dirty debris onto a highway or public place.

Depositing snow and ice from sidewalks onto a highway or public place will be a violation of the new bylaw.

Also depositing snow, dirt, etc. from private land onto a highway or public place or not cleaning entrance/exit on a sidewalk will be in violation.

Lastly the use of retarder brakes in town limits will be in violation of the new provisions as stated in the new traffic bylaw.

Mayor expresses concerns

Mayor Bob Mayhew has expressed his concerns over the budget shortfall the Pembina Education Consortium faces.

Joe MacLellan, the consortium's executive director reported in last week's paper that the program side of his budget had been reduced by $40,000. Since that time, the consortium has learned that other monies they received last year, may not be forthcoming.

MacLellan has confirmed that the $40,000 shortfall will result in the loss of the registered nursing assistants (RNA) program which has been filled the past two years and currently has a waiting list of 180 applicants.

"I'm sorry to hear about this," the mayor commented, "I hope this doesn't jeopardize their future," he added.

Meanwhile, MacLellan is working on getting some other money to run his programs. "But, it's too early to say," he told the Western Review.

Wellsites at parks

Town questions issue of liability

A letter to the town from Mobil Oil has created a controversy over the liability of wellsites in municipal parks.

The letter states that Mobil "cannot approve the installation of recreation facilities at any wellsites in Drayton Valley."

It adds that the company is concerned about liability in the event of an accident occurring at a Mobil wellsites located in a park.

At the July 16 meeting, Deputy Mayor Tom McGee told council that the letter unleashed a host of questions regarding the issue of responsibility.

Councillors wondered if the town could be held liable for wellsites injuries sustained by people playing in town parks.

Mayor Bob Mayhew said any liability could be reduced by Mobil erecting signs against entry into a wellsites is done at the individual's own risk.

He added that it's his belief there's a certain distance surrounding any wellsites in which liability is neither the town's nor the oil company's.

Mobil's stance and the question of liability has created a cloud of uncertainty over both existing parks and proposed parks in town, said town manager Manny Deol.

Education study angers Mayhew

The province's decision to do an education study before making any official announcement on the proposed municipal district (MD) has angered Mayor Bob Mayhew.

The mayor calls the education study, which is expected to stretch into October, a crutch to add further delay to a decision.

He said that once an MD is in place, the formation of a county, that would include the school systems, would be next.

"I'd be happy with an MD. I don't give a damn about a county," Mayhew stated.

The mayor would like to see MLA Shirley Cripps get involved in the issue. He indicated that if the MLA took a stand, she would likely get a lot of support from the area.

Revisions made

Tourist booth loses planned site

Shell Oil's decision against locating the new tourist booth on its property dictates that revisions be made in the chamber of commerce's plans.

Shell had given its conditional approval to place the new booth at its bulk station but recently rejected the idea because of safety concerns.

"Shell felt heavy truck traffic at the site might have endangered tourists," said Rod Schultz, the chamber's tourism committee chairman. He added that these sentiments were understandable and that the chamber will now look towards building a new booth to fit the size of the existing site.

The present booth's location (at the Esso service station on 50th Ave) is more than adequate for a smaller-sized booth, Schultz noted. Although parking may be a problem, Esso has decided to move staff parking away from the entrance of the booth.

Schultz also said he believes the newly revised structure of the proposed tourist booth shouldn't mean a long delay in construction, and forecasted an autumn 1987 completion date.

A tourism committee meeting was held last week to discuss the new plans.

DV United win again

Drayton Valley United continued their domination over teams in the Central Alberta Rural Men's Soccer League last Sunday.

Sparked by a second half nine goal outburst, DV United humiliated host Mayerthorpe 12-1 in winning their sixth straight league game. It was the club's 38th straight game without a loss and leaves them as the only undefeated team in the league.

Chris Kelly also continued to terrorize goalkeepers with four markers giving him 14 in just six games. Mark Buckland, 17-year-old Guy Taylor of Evansburg and Martin Stocklossa had two goal efforts with playing-coach Ben Foblete and Andy Kelly getting singles. Andy Kelly set up six goals and even goaltender Simon Kelly got in on the act with three assists.

Stocklossa scored the first two goals of the game and Taylor added a single. Mayerthorpe, who dropped to 15-1 with the loss, ruined Simon Kelly's shutout bid in the last five minutes.

DV United were without Chris Brown, Alexander Taal and Geir Rorstad. Rorstad has left the squad for personal reasons and Taal, a three year veteran, is moving to Lethbridge.

Jim Wells, who played with Mobil in the recreation league suited up for his first game at right back and Doug Borland returned to the team after a three year absence.

The top two teams in the league meet Sunday, 2 p.m. at Lions Park when Whitecourt, with one loss in six starts, provide the opposition.

Taals leaving

One of Drayton Valley's most successful female athletes is leaving.

Lynette Taal, who played a key role in helping the Drayton Valley Tigers win three straight intermediate women's basketball titles, is moving to Lethbridge. She also coached the Frank Maddock high school girls basketball team the past two years.

Her husband Clarence, has also been very active in the community, spending two years with Cesars soccer club and the current summer with DV United. Last year he was co-chairman of the chamber's tourist committee.

Ju Jutsi is also losing their instructor as Brian Isert is moving to Utah. He has been very involved with scouts in town and has been a member of the RCMP auxiliary.

Provost wins beaver ball title

By Frank Ryan

Provost Jays went undefeated in winning the provincial beaver 'B' baseball championship last weekend.

The Jays collected 12 hits enroute to a 15-6 win over Gibbons in their opening game last Friday at Lions Park. They added two more victories Saturday, a 10-0 shutout over Okotoks, a high scoring 17-13 win over host IDA Oilers and on Sunday handed Athabasca a 9-2 setback to win the Alberta title.

Athabasca captured second place after defeating Gibbons 11-9 in a playoff game. Both teams had finished ed the three-day tournament with identical two-and-two records.

Host Drayton Valley and Okotoks finished with one-and-three records.

The IDA Oilers were involved in three of the closest games of the weekend, which all resulted in losses.

The Oilers booted the ball nine times in their opening 9-7 loss to Gibbons. The visitors went ahead to stay in the fifth when they scored five runs. Bryn Kuzek led the Oilers five hit attack with two singles.

In their second game last Friday, Athabasca scored three runs in the sixth for a come-from-behind 6-5 victory. Once again the Oilers booted the ball, making seven errors.

Perry Komick had a double and single for the losers.

Despite their 17-13 loss to Provost, the Oilers made a valiant comeback as they trailed 14-3 after two-and-a-half innings. They narrowed the gap in the third with six runs and had four in the last inning, before their rally fell short. Komick led the Oilers at the plate with two singles and a double. Robbie Hutchison had two singles.

Their lone win was a 16-1 romp over Okotoks. Once again Komick led all hitters with two singles, a double and home run. Tony Kopp lined out a double and triple. Glen Hutchison had a double and single and Kuzek collected two singles.

Other games during the beaver provincials saw Athabasca down Okotoks 18-7. Gibbons defeated Athabasca 15-5 and in a rain delayed game (called after five innings on Saturday and completed Sunday morning) Okotoks edged Gibbons 7-6.

Medals were presented to the players and coaches on the top two teams following the event Sunday afternoon.

Bat Busters off to the finals

The Brandette Bat Busters earned a berth in the mosquito baseball provincials last weekend.

The Drayton Valley youngsters finished with a two-and-one record during the two-day inter-zones at Lions Park.

The north will also be represented by St. Albert who won all three of their games at the Drayton Valley zone playoff. During those three games St. Albert held their opposition off the score-sheet.

The odd team out last weekend was Evansdale, an Edmonton club.

The Bat Busters opened with a 27-4 romp over Evansdale aided by a 10-run third inning. Mark Jesperen, an addition from Fort Saskatchewan led the winners 25-hit attack with three singles, a triple and home run. Fletcher

Bredin had four singles.

They weren't so fortunate the second time out, losing a five inning 10-0 decision to St. Albert. They only managed one hit and saw 12 of their batters go down on strike outs.

In their second meeting with Evansdale, the Bat Busters recorded a 7-0 decision as Brett Konda, another addition from Fort Saskatchewan, hurled a no hitter and fanned eight batters. Jesperen hit a single, double and triple.

St. Albert, who will host the provincials this weekend, beat Evansdale 31-0 and 18-0. The first game was much closer than the score indicates as St. Albert scored 25 runs in the fifth inning.

Action on Sunday was delayed several hours, due to overnight rains.

Neptune swimmers third at two meets

The Neptune swim club placed third at two meets last weekend.

Tim Regnier won the aggregate in boys eight and under on Sunday in a one-day meet at Hinton. The Neptunes with 23 swimmers, placed third in a field of seven clubs.

Regnier swam to first place finishes in the 25 metre butterfly, 25 metre back and 25 metre freestyle and was second in the 25 metre breaststroke.

Jonathan Setterlund captured a first in the boys 9 and 10-100 metre freestyle and also was a member of two first place Neptune relay teams.

The Neptunes also won the 200 individual medley for 11 and 12 year old boys.

Steven Oscar in the 100 metre breast and James MacIure in the 50 metre freestyle rounded out the club's first place finishes.

A day earlier, where the Neptunes participated in the Edson meet, the club collected 12 firsts.

Both Tim Regnier and Steven Oscar led the way with three each. Regnier's came in the 50 metre freestyle, 25 metre butterfly and breaststroke while Oscar won the boys 15 and over 100 metre back breaststroke and 200 metre individual medley.

Andrea Groulx was next with firsts in the girls 13 and 14-100 metre back and breaststroke and a second in the 100 metre freestyle.

Travis McGinn won the boys 8 and under 25 metre backstroke. Daniel Wilson captured the gold in the boys 11 and 12 year old 50 metre back, the Neptunes won the 200 metre medley relay for 11 and 12 year old boys and the family relay.

The 19th Hole

The reason we didn't print the winners and losers at the first annual Inter-City tournament was simple. Danny Thompson went out-of-town with the results.

So here they are. Lance Gardiner's team of Peter Hawryluk, Angela Haluska and Robert Jean were the best of the Lions finishing at plus three. Lorne St. Clair's foursome won the skunk award with a plus 18.

Otto Klassen's foursome that included Pat Karbovanec, Don Folefot and Larry Glen were the top Legion entry finishing one over while their skunk award went to Keith Jamieson with a plus nine.

Eighteen-year-old Dennis Anderson beat out his dad (Don) for top honors amongst the Knights of Columbus entries. The younger Anderson who was joined by Marvin Brown, Corina Kelepouris and Twyla Gardiner finished the 18-hole tourney at even par while dad was eight over and captured the skunk award.

Chris Kelepouris along with Beatrice Lainchbury, Louis Tucker and Frank Blanchard were one over par in winning the Elks trophy while Red Mattoon's foursome went home with the skunk award.

And, the top award for the best Kinsmen foursome went to Phil Avision, Merle Baird, Mary Ann Kelepouris and Bohdan Urchashyn with a plus one while the skunk award went to Tim Irvin's group who finished 14 over par.

If you check the list of winners, and the skunks, you'll see Danny's name missing. Maybe that's why he got out-of-town with the results. Just kidding Danny.

Residents in the MacKenzie Park area have voiced their concerns over golfers using the park as a driving range. One home owner says he has found golf balls on his lawn.

For those who weren't aware...there is a driving range at the DV course.

Bev Guyon, the Drayton Valley area resident who was featured in a front page article in the Western Review several weeks ago pertaining to her battle with caterpillars...has taken up golf.

She had her first lesson last Wednesday and says it's more fun than spraying caterpillars. By the way, Bev says it cost her about $300 on chemicals to keep the caterpillar population from completely taking over her trailer.

Oilfield baseball

League could see expansion next year

Membership in the Oilfield Baseball League could increase next summer.

League president Dan Pankewics says Thoraby and the Drayton Valley Drillers, who took a leave of absence this season, may return in '88.

And, the Breton Royals who have defaulted a number of road games this year due to a lack of players, are expected back.

Pankewics says there's a good chance that Merle Baird, who is playing with the Beauford Colts this year, will join the troubled Royals in time for next season.

While he wasn't ready to admit that senior baseball was dying, Pankewics said league teams had experienced player shortages due to work commitments. "There used to be jobs here. Now, players have to go elsewhere to find work," he stated.

That very reason led to Thoraby's withdrawal, because many of their players work in Edmonton.

Pankewics, who plays with the Warburg Rams, also admitted that baseball had lost a number of players to slo-pitch.

However, he's confident the Oilfield Baseball League will survive.

Summer games approach

By Alan Hobson
Spectators will be coming from as far away as North Dakota and Saskatchewan.

They got their invitations on balloons that drifted down from the heavens after being released days earlier by Edmonton area school children.

One thousand brightly-colored wind socks have been erected all over the area and the county water tower has been painted to proclaim the upcoming event in 15-foot-high letters.

There hasn't been this kind of excitement since Edmonton hosted the World University Games in 1983. That's because this will not be some casual summer picnic. It will be a major provincial sport and cultural event.

Final arrangements for the 1987 Alberta Summer Games in the County of Strathcona, Aug. 5-8 just east of Edmonton are right on schedule, say event organizers. And if preparations are any indication, these could be the "best ever" Alberta Summer Games the same way the 1988 Olympic Winter Games are hoped to be in Calgary.

"We've been waiting for this one so we're really getting into it," says Russ Pawlyk, Games manager. "We want to pull the community together and we're doing it."

Already, all $200,000 worth of new or improved facilities needed for the Games and their 36 sport and cultural events have been completed.

These include 15 new or refurbished baseball, slowpitch and softball diamonds; the improved irrigation of six soccer fields; the resurfacing, fencing and landscaping of six tennis courts; the construction of a brand new shooting range for handgun and smallbore rifle competition; an archery field course; and improved beachfront and a jump for the water skiing competition on Hastings Lake 15 minutes east of the Edmonton area of Sherwood Park.

In all some 3500 athletes from all over Alberta are expected to attend and what they'll get will be more than just competition. It will be excitement. Singer Murray McLaughlin will be featured during the Games and some 6000 spectators are expected to attend the opening ceremonies Aug. 5 at 5 p.m. in the Strathcona Athletic Park. The county will be celebrating its 25th anniversary in conjunction with the Games and there'll be a county fair and rodeo thrown in to boot.

If you'd like to find out how you or someone you know can get in on the fun at the 1987 Alberta Summer Games, contact Charlene Seaman, Zone 6 coordinator, Alberta Sport Council, Stony Plain, 968-9158.

Justin Pysar

Former Easyford Colt

Pysar selected for national youth team

By Frank Ryan

A product of the Drayton Valley Minor Baseball program has made the national youth team.

Justin Pysar, 17, who was born and raised in Drayton Valley, is currently playing with the national team on an eight game international tour in eastern Canada.

Pysar, who played with the Ander Ollers two years ago when they won the ban-tam provincials and finished second in Western Canada started the year with Team Alberta.

For the past two weeks he has been at the national youth camp in Windsor, Ontario. His selection to the team makes him the only Alberta on the squad. Two other players, both pitchers attended, but have since returned home to Edmonton and Calgary.

Pysar, who also toiled with the Easyford Colts of the Oilfield Baseball League for the past two years is playing right field with the national team and has been batting in the clean up spot.

Ed Hutzel, who worked with Pysar on the Ander Ollers, was instrumental in getting him a tryout with Team Alberta.

Hutzel recalls his own son Joey getting an invitation to attend their tryout camp. He called coach Ray Brown and recommended Pysar.

Hutzel and Brad Allen, who both play with the Drayton Valley Ollers and also toiled with the Westlock midgeets this summer, have been invited to Team Alberta's camp Labor Day weekend.

Randy Pysar, who is in his 19th season with the Easyford Colts, is extremely proud of his son.

"I'm surprised and proud. He's worked hard," he said when learning of his son's acceptance on the national team.

"He's living my dream," Randy added.

The elder Pysar also praised the work of Team Alberta coach Ray Brown who sent eight members off last year's team to the U.S. on baseball scholarships.

Justin will return to Drayton Valley next month, finish his grade 12 and then, his prospects of a U.S. baseball scholarship look good according to Hutzel.

Hutzel and Randy Pysar are both hoping that Justin's success will be an incentive for someone else.

Cowboy Flett hosts charity golf classic

The third annual Cowboy Flett charity golf classic will be held Thursday at the Drayton Valley course.

The 18-hole tournament is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. and the public is invited to follow the celebrities around the course and meet their favorite players.

Proceeds from the event go to the Beehive Workshop. Last year the event raised $8,000 after $4,600 was generated from the first event.

This year's celebrity guest list reads like a sports who's who.

Hockey will be well represented by host Cowboy Bill Flett, who played on a Stanley Cup with Philadelphia Flyers in '72 and spent three seasons (1976-79) with the Oilers. During his NHL career, Flett had 209 goals and 231 assists along with 108 goals and 88 assists during a stint in the old World Hockey Association.

The Stanley Cup champion Oilers will be represented by Dave Hunter, Charlie Huddy, Dave Lumley, Moe Lemay, Craig Muni, Andy Moog and Mike Moller (the assistant pro at the Innisfail golf club). There's also a possibility that Glen Anderson will attend along with former Oiler defenceman Randy Gregg, who recently joined Team Canada.

Quebec Nordiques goaltender Clint Malarchuk has confirmed his attendance and his team mate, defenceman Randy Moller, may join brother Mike at the tournament.

Glen Hall, the former Chicago Black Hawk net-minder and Ron Chipperfield who played with the Oilers for several seasons plan to attend.

Lindy Ruff of Warburg, captain of the Buffalo Sabres is unable to attend.

Celebrity golf host Bill Flett.

Ken Lukusta, who has a Aug. 24 title rematch against Canadian champion Willie de Wit is another 'big name' on the celebrity guest list.

Football will also be well represented by former Edmonton Eskimo quarterback Tom Wilkinson and tournament organisers hope to have Jackie Parker in attendance.

Clare Drake from the University of Alberta and Wes Montgomery, one of the best master of ceremonies in the country along with wrestler Ben Basar round out the list of celebrities.

Easyford

Colts clinch Oilfield baseball pennant

By Frank Ryan

The Easyford Colts rode the bat of Kevin Hutchinson to the Oilfield Baseball League pennant last Tuesday night.

Hutchinson hit three home runs including a three-run blast in the bottom of the ninth for a 19-17 win over the visiting Warburg Rams.

It was the Colts' 11th win of the season. They have lost twice and have two league games remaining. The Rams record is just the opposite, 2 and 11 with two league games left.

The two clubs who combined for 38 hits in last week's contest are scheduled to meet tonight (Tuesday), 7 p.m. at the Easyford diamond. The Colts' other make-up game is with the Drayton Valley Oilers who will likely finish second in the four team league.

While they lost the game, the Rams threw quite a scare into the league champs. Easyford appeared to have the game well in hand as they led 15-4 after just five innings. But the never-say-die Rams counted five in the sixth, a single in the seventh and went ahead 17-16 in the top of the ninth with a seven run outburst.

Colts coach Roy Hutchinson tried everything he could to stop the Rams attack in the ninth, using six pitchers. The Rams scored their seven runs on five hits and two errors.

In the last of the ninth, Greg Pankewicz and Jock Hutchinson reached base with singles. And, with one out, Hutchinson parked the first pitch over the right field fence for the win.

In all Hutchinson drove in seven runs with his three round trippers and two singles. Randy Pyar hit a 13-hit with three singles in the second inning and Ken Beard also hit a homer for the Colts. Hutchinson and Trent Pankewicz contributed three hits each in a 22-hit attack.

Bob Williamson and Lorie Sarvas led the Rams grand slam for the Colts in each.

range riding, calf roping, barrel racing, a wild goat scramble, bareback, team roping and calf riding.

Wild Rose events will include bull riding, bareback, calf roping, wild horse race, saddle bronc, junior steer riding, team roping and ladies barrels.

There will also be a bloomer race on Saturday.

Delcan awarded sewer contract

The town will pay an upset fee of $105,100 for the engineering supervision of the first stage of the planned sewer treatment plant upgrading.

Delcan Engineering of Edmonton was awarded the contract following negotiations with town administration and the subsequent approval of the firm by council at a recent meeting.

Council also agreed to pay the same company $225,000 for the design and construction of a sanitary relief sewer.

Meanwhile, the town has received a grant for the project from the provincial government.

Under the Alberta Municipal Water Supply and Sewer Treatment Grant Program, the government picks up half the estimated project costs -- in this case, a total of $125,000.

Delcan says it's ready to start immediately with the design and tendering so that the first stage can be completed during 1988.

The Open House Canada 4-H exchange program saw 10 members from Pickton, Ontario visit Drayton Valley for a 10 day stay. One of the trip's highlights was a chance to see the Rocky Mountains. The Ontario group's visit followed a trip by local 4-H members to Pickton. Pictured above (top) members from both towns gather for a final group picture at a reception held at Violet Grove Hall last week. (Bottom) Following dinner the group sang as they headed out on a hay ride. While here some members of the group visited West Edmonton Mall, Klondike Days and the mountains.

Ambulance Authority

Town wants more information

Town council has refused to accept a Drayton Valley Ambulance Authority financial statement until more information is obtained.

At the July 16 regular meeting, councillors wanted to know why requisitions from Drayton Valley increased substantially between 1985 and 1986, and why the County of Parkland's requisition decreased during the same time period.

The figures were part of the Authority's 1987 Statement of Receipts and Disbursements, and showed the town increased its requisition from $15,040 to $37,130. Meanwhile, Parkland's requisition dropped from $36,570 to $22,260.

Councillor Charlie Miner also questioned the cost of board remuneration and the budgeted surplus (earmarked at $7,900).

Dave Lundberg, the councillor who represents the town on the Authority board, said he will look further into the matter and report back to council at the next meeting.

Meanwhile, an auditor's report dealing with the Authority's budget concluded that the Statement of Receipts and Disbursements "presents fairly the financial operations of the Authority...in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, except that it is prepared on a cash basis consistent with that of the preceding year."

Puts house on sale

Town receiving bids

The town is ready to examine the bids on a the house it has recently put up to sale.

At a recent meeting, council tabled the issue until the next regular meeting so that all the bids will be in before any decision is made.

Deadline for making a bid on the house, located at Lot C, Plan 5528 RS (just south of West Valley Park), was July 17.

At the scheduled August 6 meeting, council will decide whether to accept one of the bids or continue renting the house.

The town has been renting the house for some time, but placed an ad in The Western Review for the sale of the building after it's most recent tenant moved out.

Any successful bidder will be required to remove the house from the site.

New instant lottery

Western Canada Lottery Corporation (WCLC) teams two games of broad appeal, football and the INSTANT lottery, with the launch of its eleventh INSTANT game July 31 - FIRST AND GOAL.

In launching First and Goal, WCLC introduces a new $2 ticket price, a new ticket look and an all-new prize structure.

Players will scratch two latex-covered footballs on the ticket, one for each game half. Located directly below the footballs is the SCORE TO BEAT box. If the sum of the player's two half scores is greater than the SCORE TO BEAT, the player wins the prize in the PRIZE BOX. Players will scratch and win cash prizes ranging from $5 to $25,000 - or a special MVP entry.

On November 16, WCLC will draw 100 tickets from all MVP entries received and 111 tips for two to the 1987 Grey Cup will be awarded. These prizes include airfare from a major Western Canadian city, three nights accommodation, $500 spending money and 1988 season tickets for the CFL football team of the winner's choice.

Another draw will take place in Vancouver on Grey Cup weekend. Eight of the 100 lottery winners attending the Grey Cup will win 1988 Mustang LX 2-door coupes. These eight winners will also be matched with the eight CFL teams. The MVP winner matched with the Grey Cup runner-up will win $5,000. The MVP winner matched with the Grey Cup winning team will win the $50,000 grand prize!

The lifespan of the INSTANT game is approximately three months. Once the issued number of tickets are sold, the game is over.

Canning it!

District Home Economist Bev Brooks supervised a one-day workshop last week on general canning techniques for fruits, vegetables, and making jams and freezing. Over 20 people turned out including Maurice Norbert (above), Education Council and Alberta Agriculture.

the workshop included demonstrations on hot water bath canning, using a pressure canner, making jams and freezing. Over 20 people turned out including Maurice Norbert (above), showing off his canning prowess.

Higher employment

Statistics Canada numbers released today showed that, in seasonally adjusted terms, there were 1,150,000 Albertans employed and 122,000 unemployed in the Province during June 1987.

This represents an employment rate of 90.4 percent and an unemployment rate of 9.6 percent during June. In unadjusted terms, the rate of unemployment in June stood at 9.2 percent.

At 72.6 percent (unadjusted), Alberta continues to have the highest participation rate in the country, according to Statistics Canada. This means that more people per total number of working age population in Alberta are part of the Labor force as compared to any other province. Ontario's participation rate ranks second with a rate of 70.5 percent (unadjusted). In actual terms, Alberta's labor force stood at 1,289,000 during June, down by 5,000 from June of 1986. Out of every thousand, 490 Albertans were employed in the Province during June, 1987.

Exhibitors wonder

What makes a winning entry?

By Carleen C. Carrot
Every year exhibitors at the fair wonder what makes a winning entry.

Judges are looking for certain standards in every category. For the next four weeks until the fair my column will help you to choose products that are deserving of a ribbon. We will deal with food, vegetables, sewing and flowers.

Food
Shape: evenly risen, suitable for the type of food, i.e. tea biscuits approximately 5 cm.

Color: even, no sign of burnt crusts. Tops nicely browned or characteristic of the kind of cake or muffin, etc.

Crusts: about 3 mm thick, tender yet crisp, no cracks or bulges.

Texture: bread smooth, soft and spring, cakes fine even texture and tender. Muffins even grain, moist and tender.

Flavor: breads sweet and nutty free of a yeast smell. Cakes no decided taste of a particular ingredient, delicate and pleasing. Judges encourage the use of nutritious ingredients i.e. raisins and dates.

Frostings and fillings: for cakes should be well blended with the flavor of the cake.

Additional information on judging standards can be obtained at the agricultural office. Good eating, see you next week with standards for vegetables.

Resident handed fine

An area resident was fined $400 (or 40 days) after she pleaded guilty to driving over the .08 mg blood alcohol limit. Carolyn Louise Brown of Wildwood appeared in Drayton Valley Provincial Court last week.

The judge also suspended her driver's license for a period of six months.

Do not deceive: God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. - THE WORD OF GOD (Galatians 6:7-8)

ADVERTISEMENT

The Word of God is very clear, but the majority of mankind does not care for it. Everybody knows that the farmer reaps what he sows. If he sows wheat, he will not reap corn, and if he sows weeds, he will not reap corn. It is the same with our deeds, with our talking, thinking and will. All of this is seed, seed that will come up and grow, and whatsoever a man soweth, that will he also reap! Look around and you will see this word come true! The things we see today were the seed of yesterday. In our days mankind reaps what it has sowed by the rejection of God, their "restoration", their materialism and modern education. The seed is come up and bears the terrible fruits of licentiousness, irreverence, unkindness and cruelty. But what will a society reap tomorrow, whose evil seeds for the future are put into the ground, today? For, this people has lost all sense of shame and without any scruples murders unborn life. This will be judged by the righteous judgement of God, and it is terrible to think about the judgement that will come upon mankind, because of all the evil and deadly seed that is sown today by means of the most shameless sins.

However this word is not just directed to the people that don't know the Bible, but also to the people in the official churches who claim to be the children of God. Woe, you hypocrites! You have the Word of God but refuse to FOLLOW AND DO the will of God! You are hearers only, of the Word, but not doers, and unless you repent, God will judge you, for you put shame on the name of Christ by means of your unbelief way of life! Sin, worldliness, worldly rhythms, senseless fashions, earthly medicines and illnesses are the things you can find in all official and registered churches. Who takes the Word of God seriously? Think on this: All this is the seed that will come up tomorrow! "For he that soweth to his flesh" - and all this is flesh, "shall of the flesh reap CORRUPTION." - The Christian of Drayton Valley, Box 3168, Drayton Valley, T0E 0M0. Phone 542-2240

Brazeau recreation area

Offers excellent camping and fishing

If camping or fishing are in your summer holiday plans, or, if you just want to get away from the rigors of everyday life...try the excellent facilities at the Brazeau Reservoir Recreation Area.

Three campgrounds and two stocked fishing ponds are just an example of their facilities, located 58 km southwest of Drayton Valley.

Half the distance is paved (Drayton Valley to Lodgepole) with the remainder of the route being a good dry-weather highway.

The road between Lodgepole and the Elk River turnoff is extremely busy during the week with truck traffic. This is also the roughest and dustiest part of the trip.

The last 7 km from the Elk River turnoff to the dam shouldn't give you any problems, whether your driving a single vehicle or pulling a trailer.

In case of rain, check the road conditions with most visitor information booths or call the ranger station in Lodgepole (894-3642).

Once you've reached the Brazeau Recreation Area, it's time to make some decisions.

If your looking for a well shaded overnight camping area with a beach and fishing close by, take a right and head up to the loops campground. It's a well kept facility.

If you turn left at the Recreation Area sign, you'll find the two stocked ponds and two campgrounds, one for overnighers and the other for day users. There's also a boat launch in the area.

The two ponds are stocked with rainbow trout while jackfish are a popular catch along the banks of the dyke (keep vehicles off this area) and below the two TransAlta powerhouses in the immediate area.

Fishing is the big draw, according to an Alberta Forestry official.

Twenty-five per cent of the people who spend a day, week or weekend at the Brazeau, are families and retired people.

There's stalls for 88 units plus an over flow area.

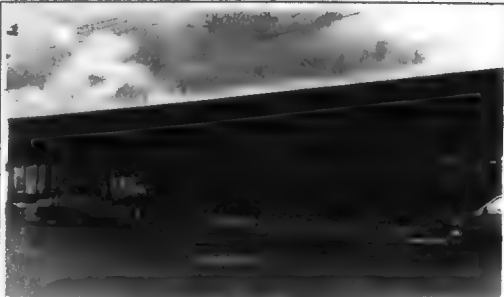

The one time of the year when the recreation area gets a real test is the May long weekend. This year 140 units crammed into the area. Other than that weekend, the facility is between a half and three-quarters full.

The area is patrolled by the Alberta Forest Service and the RCMP make frequent checks, especially on weekends. The forest service also has a caretaker living in the area.

Of the 150 recreation areas the forest service is responsible for in Alberta, the Brazeau ranks in the top five.

And, it's easy to see why.

Saan's expansion

The new Saan's store on 50th Street across from the Royal Bank is quickly taking shape. It is not known what will occupy their existing store on main street.

Crow benefit

Producers want some changes..

Sixty-seven per cent of Alberta producers surveyed regarding the Crow Benefit felt that there should be a change to the current method of payment, the Hon. Peter Elzinga, Minister of Agriculture and the Hon. Larry Shaben, Minister of Economic Trade and Development have announced.

The survey, completed in June of this year, also found that 52 per cent of the producers surveyed felt that money for the shipment of grain from the federal Crow Benefit should be paid directly to farmers. An additional 15 per cent felt the money should be split equally between railways and producers. Under the present Western Grain Transportation Act, the transportation subsidy, known as the Crow Benefit, is paid directly to the railways.

Twenty-four per cent want the majority of the Crow Benefit money to go to the railways and nine per cent stated that they did not know who should receive the money.

The producer survey also showed that approximately three-quarters of all producers acknowledged that paying the Crow Benefit directly to the producers would result in greater livestock production, more local processing and greater diversification.

Farmers were almost evenly split regarding which method of payment, pay the railways or pay the producer would result in more efficient movement and export of grain.

"The results of the survey indicate that the majority of Alberta farmers want a change in the method of payment of the federal Crow Benefit and recognized that the change would have a positive economic impact on Alberta's economy," stated Mr. Shaben.

Mr. Elzinga added, "The survey will assist Ottawa in recognizing that a change in the method of payment is both desired by Albertans and consistent with the unique aspects of the province's agricultural economy. We are encouraged by the results of this survey and will continue to work toward a producer payment in Alberta."

Propane hazards

When reconnecting a propane tank to your barbecue's fuel line, remember that all propane cylinders have opposite threading.

This means that to tighten the connection, the fitting must be turned counterclockwise, says Chief Rem Graade, director, planning and research division, City of Toronto Fire Department. "The connector should be tightened carefully with a wrench to secure the connection."

Consumers should also check for leaks at the valve assembly joint with the "soapy water test."

Mix about a half teaspoon of dishwashing liquid with one-half cup of water. Brush this solution on to the connections. Open the tank's main valve which allows the gas through the fuel line. Watch closely to see if any bubbles form. Repeat this procedure.

"This test will take about 15 seconds plus the length of time it takes to mix up the soapy solution," says Graade. "It's a very worthwhile precaution to take after refilling your tank."

Remember, leaking propane gas can be a hazard just as gasoline fumes or natural gas can be. The key is to understand the properties of the fuel and to use it wisely, says Bill Kurtze, managing director, Propane Gas Association of Canada.

"You have to have a degree of respect for propane just like any other liquid or gaseous fuel."

Poisons

Can be beneficial when used in proper manner

Although poisons, by design, aren't supposed to be "good" consumer products, they do have a useful role when handled properly, says a specialist with Alberta Agriculture.

Dr. Byron Beck, head of the department's toxicology laboratory in Edmonton, says poisons, like many other substances can be of benefit to society when used as intended.

"As an example, strychnine is a pesticide used extensively in agriculture to control very damaging pests such as gophers, pocket voles and sheep-killing coyotes," he says. "Like all agricultural chemicals when used properly, improved production and benefits are derived. Unfortunately, this pesticide sometimes serves as a source of poison for the malicious individual."

The toxicology lab, which is part of the department's animal health division provides the only service of its kind in Alberta. It has a long-standing reputation of providing expert diagnosis and advice to veterinarians, medical health officials, humane societies and police, on poisons and toxins found in animals.

The laboratory staff, headed by Beck, works with animal blood and tissue samples submitted by veterinarians from across the province. They analyze the samples and provide diagnosis of the cause of death or illness. They can prescribe appropriate treatment and assist the clinic during the animal's recovery period.

In cases where foul play is suspected in the poisoning of an animal, laboratory staff have provided expert evidence and testimony to the police and courts.

Because of abuses made of strychnine - as many as 250 reported cases in Alberta of strychnine poisoning in dogs in one year - the lab has supported efforts by the pesticide chemicals branch of Alberta Environment and the pest control division of Alberta Agriculture, to curtail the "improper use and availability of strychnine."

These efforts led to control measures such as: limiting the concentration of strychnine which may be sold to the public; strychnine may not be displayed on open counters or shelves; and the purchaser must sign a register with their name and address.

The laboratory head says poisons such as strychnine which have a legitimate role in agriculture work, can be unjustly criticized.

"Agriculture pest control officers use a chemically labelled form of strychnine so its use and distribution can be carefully identified and monitored," he says. "When a neighbor's dogs were poisoned by an officially set bait it proved the dogs were guilty of killing sheep. Their fatal offense exonerated the innocent, but considered guilty coyote. The control of agricultural pests and predators is an unpleasant, but sometimes necessary management tool for farmers."

The veterinarians says there isn't much the system can do to stop devious minds intent on deliberately poisoning pets. He says as controls tighten in the use of chemicals, dog poisoners come up with new and imaginative ways to do their malicious deeds.

However, he warns anyone in care or control of poisons or other toxic substances to treat them with respect.

"Many of the accidental poisonings that occur are because of careless storage and handling of the chemicals," says Beck. "The product is left on a shelf and spilled on feed which is fed to animals. Or it is left too accessible and a child takes a drink from a bottle. Or bottles or bags of unused chemicals are left in a cupboard for years and years and finally no one remembers anymore what's in the container and it is disposed of improperly."

He says properly used and properly stored poisons and chemicals can legitimately provide a service to the agriculture industry.

Mozambique needs more food

There is no food remaining in Manica province, Mozambique, according to a telex received by World Vision Canada from the agency's Mozambique field office.

The telex asks immediate shipment of additional food. "Delivery would have to take place in August to avert starvation."

Already, 4,500 tonnes of maize provided by the Canadian government has been distributed by World Vision in Manica province.

Reports indicate that a child dies every three minutes in Mozambique as a result of the war and drought. UNICEF's Shaida Asfor compared the death rate to a jet full of children crashing every day.

Several months ago, when we became aware of the growing tragedy that threatened the lives of five million Mozambicans, we initiated an aggressive awareness and fund raising campaign," explains William J. Newell, Executive Director of World Vision Canada. "This most recent report makes our current effort crucial for the survival of thousands."

The World Vision Canada campaign includes bus shelter posters in Toronto and Vancouver, radio and television announcements, a cross-country media tour, direct mailing, and extensive promotion by World Vision Canada's network of representatives and volunteers.

The media blitz is asking Canadians to identify with a hungry Mozambican by missing a meal, and then giving a donation to Canadian organizations working in Mozambique.

To date World Vision Canada has received $2.7 million from the public and government matching grants towards its $5 million goal, and has distributed over 30,000 tonnes of food to 370,000 people. Future plans include the distribution of an additional 12,000 tonnes of maize, the drilling of 52 wells and emergency aid to refugees.

Market making a significant contribution

Agriculture Minister Peter Elzinga has declared August 2 to 8 as Alberta Farmers' Market Awareness Week.

This second annual celebration is intended to bring recognition to the contribution Farmers' Markets make to the community and to the provincial economy.

The Minister states, "In declaring Farmers' Markets Awareness Week it is hoped it will bring greater public attention to the many important roles these markets play."

"For consumers they are a source of locally-grown, nutritious, fresh produce. They serve as an outlet for the many talented arts and crafts people in our province. They generate income for the producers and artisans who participate in the often weekly events. And they also serve as important social links in our communities."

As part of the awareness program, many markets across Alberta will be organizing events such as special breakfasts, barbecues, theme displays and other promotions.

A special four-day campaign is planned at Fort Edmonton Park, in Edmonton by the Alberta Farmer's Market Association.

There are about 110 farmers markets operating in Alberta. In the early 1970s there were only four farmers' markets in the province. These were privately owned operations in Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge.

In 1974 Alberta Agriculture announced a program to aid the development of markets throughout the province. Although it was originally planned to support markets in communities of at least 5,000 people, interest in the social aspects and economic advantages led to the support being offered to virtually all towns, villages and hamlets.

Since 1974 the program has spread province-wide establishing farmers' markets from the Montana border, north to Manning, east to Lloydminster on the Saskatchewan border, and west to Hinton and Rocky Mountain House.

Elzinga stated, "The growth and vitality of the farmers' market network is a tribute to the local volunteer communities who organize and operate the service each year, as well as to the community at large for their loyalty and support."

"It is a pleasure for this department to be involved in these grassroots projects which have established themselves as vital and worthwhile community endeavors."

Jams and jellies

Reducing sugar will cut calories

By Bev Brooks
Slim down your homemade jams and jellies!

Many recipes call for as much sugar as fruit. At about 900 calories per cup for sugar (or 56 calories per tablespoon of jam), that's a lot of sweetness. Why so much?

Sugar works as a drying agent for pectin thereby helping to form a gel. It also keeps the fruit from spoiling as long as the sugar concentration is 55 per cent of the total weight of the recipe. This was important in earlier days before refrigerators and freezers were popular — and, it's still important for those who rely on long-term cold room storage of preserves.

In a standard jam or jelly recipe it's important not to reduce the amount of sugar specified. If sugar is reduced, the products will not set properly and must be stored in the refrigerator or freezer to prevent spoilage.

Consumers however, are sensitive to the role sugar plays in their diet and many are wanting to make jams and jellies with little or no sugar. The question I receive is "what alternatives or recipes are available to make jams and jellies with little or no sugar?"

The main point to keep in mind is that you must make up for the missing sugar by adding something else to help the product gel. The options available are listed below:

Reduction of sugar in traditional recipes. If all goes well, this will produce a less sweet, soft but still spreadable, gel. If all does not go well, the product will have the consistency of syrup. Furthermore, the sugar may be so low that the product spoils. This is a risky option and not likely worth taking the chance.

Certo Light. Jams made from this product contain two-thirds the sugar of traditional products.

Slim Set. This product is made from a vegetable base rather than pectin. Less sugar is required compared to traditional pectins and artificial sweeteners can be substituted. Keep in mind that the color and flavor of the product can be quite different from the traditional version of the jam and jelly.

Unflavored gelatin. These products can be made with artificial sweetener, however most fruits have enough natural fruit sugar that additional sweetener may not be necessary. These jams must be stored in the refrigerator and used within four to six weeks.

Low methenyl pectin. Calcium ions replace sugar to create the gel structure. Although the product is not new, it is difficult to find.

Because of the low sugar content these jams and jellies have a shorter shelf life, therefore should be processed by the hot water bath method or stored in the freezer. If a commercial jam or jelly mix is used however, follow directions on the package.

Low or no-sugar jams and jellies allow you to consume a less sweet product with fewer calories. They should not be relied upon though if on a weight reduction program. That requires changing eating habits and finding a substitute for high calorie, low nutrient foods.

Trucks, trucks, trucks..

By Steve Fletcher
They shake, they rattle, but most of all, they roll.

With the recent addition of Pelican Spruce Mills, logging trucks now complement the more usual flotilla of oil and gas trucks dissecting Drayton Valley at regular intervals throughout the day.

Then there are the trucks specially centred in the Industrial Road area: the dump trucks, cement trucks, gravel trucks, and the government 4x4s.

Semi-trailers of every size and description can be seen being loaded or unloaded in the seeming unlimited number of fenced-off company yards.

Drayton Valley is becoming a trucker's town...

"I guess it's getting close to that," said John Mackenzie, manager of Mack and Mann Trucking Ltd. "It's becoming fairly truck-oriented."

He said the new mill has added greatly to truck traffic in the area. And gravel trucks are becoming commonplace as they receive summer orders from the oil patch and from the County of Parkland.

Even his company's specialty — oilfield service — is "up very slightly," Mackenzie noted.

Moreover, he stressed that the number of local independent truckers has risen markedly since the oil bust.

Kenworth trucks priced at $140,000 were "being bought at Ritchie's (a world-wide auctioneer) for $30,000 or $40,000."

Mackenzie said it's not surprising the number of private trucking companies increased along with the relatively cheap cost of trucks.
